Programmable City

Imagine a high-tech Boston where city services are responsive to real-time demand.

Imagine if we could...

(Check all that appeal to you)

- Make it possible to access more city services on your smartphone
- Invest in reliable high speed internet access for residents and businesses
- Build roads and city infrastructure that respond to changing conditions (e.g. traffic lights that adjust to reduce congestion)
- Make the streetscape responsive to personalized needs (e.g. crosswalks that add time when small children or seniors are crossing)
